

General

The login screen requires database server and filename. What must they be?

These details should not normally be required as the software automatically detects the settings via the DB auto discovery feature.

However if you are being prompted for Database server and Database filename then see the following FAQ to troubleshoot it.

Alternatively use the name of the machine that is acting as the server for the Database server field and the full path and file database file name as seen from the server's perspective i.e. do not use a shared network path to the server. The default path and file name is:

c:\Program Files (x86)\NovaCore\CMS\Novacore3.fdb
